

CONGRESSMEN SEE PAPER POOL DATA

Evidence Presented to Attorney-General by Publishers
Shown at Hearing.

WASHINGTON, May 1. John Norris, of New York, representative of the publisher committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, today continued his testimony before the select committee of the House on patent and paper investigation. He informed the committee regarding steps taken to acquire the Attorney-General with the existence of a paper manufacturers' pool and submitted for the private information of the committee a copy of the allegations made by the publishers embodying the names of thirty-three persons who had knowledge of the matters complained of. These persons, he declared, were not willing witnesses.

Mr. Norris said further that practically all the evidence he had furnished the committee had long ago been placed in the hands of the Attorney-General. "I doubt," he said, "if it was even read."

Mr. Norris put in evidence a resolution from a labor union representing 100,000 men expressing their hearty sympathy with the movement of the publishers against the paper makers.

Mr. Norris placed in evidence a number of clippings from paper trade journals showing that writing paper manufacturers in 1907 had agreed on a scale of increased prices, as the result of combinations, understandings and agreements.

Medell McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, disclosed to the committee that under a five-year contract with the International Paper Company, he was now paying $2.50 per hundred for paper. The contract still has one year to run, although the price during the time of its existence has been gradually increased from $1.85. His purchases, he said, amount to 1,000 or 1,500 tons a year. No one, he said, had approached him regarding his paper supply for next year.

Under a mild cross-examination by Mr. Miller, Mr. McCormick testified that shortly before making his last contract with the International Paper Company, he had received notice from a Watertown (N. Y.) mill. Subsequently through a trade representative, he was advised of the existence of the paper pool. He said he journeyed to New York in the company of both gentlemen and the contract with the Watertown company was cancelled as requested. He could not explain how it happened that the two agents were in Chicago at the same time.

"Did you suspect any collusion?" Mr. Miller asked.

The witness answered that he did not suspect. The Watertown company's agent, he added, told him the committee would look into the condition of smaller papers, but would not look into the matter of the pool, which he said was a good thing, and that he had no objection to the pool.

MISSING AFTER ONE NIGHT. FUR COATS GONE TOO.

I. W. Bell, who keeps a hotel at East William, 1, 1, today informed the Sheriff of Nassau County that a negro girl, Mary Jones, whom he had last night brought from his city, having hired her at an employment agency, was missing after one night, taking two fur coats with her, valued at $300.

The police of Manhattan were notified and are on the lookout for the girl.

ARRESTED AS PLOTTERS.

LIBERTY, May 1. Marcello Braganzza and Mendez Almeida, whom were active in organizing the manifestation at the graves of the men who on Feb. 1 assassinated King Carlos and his wife, in which case were arrested on charges of complicity in the plot against the King.

WORLD WANTS WORK WONDERS

There's something on foot worth while—if it's a F. & O. shoe. Our latest Spring fashions are the talk of the town among dressy men and women.

Our windows show hints of what we have within the stores. Take a lingering look to-day, or, better still, come in and examine the shoes.

Not one in the lot could you find elsewhere for less than $1.25 and from that to about $4 for those at $2.50. They come in gumps, Dutch neck, kimono sleeve, jumper and high neck models of white and colored lawns, linen chambray, Anderson's gin hams and percales. Sizes 6 to 14.

Just to Think! $30 Tailored Suits for $15

For Women & Misses

Wouldn't consider for a moment putting such a ridiculous price as $15 on these suits if the lot did not consist of one, two and three of a kind gathered together for quick disposition. Here are listed some of the styles.

Single-breasted button through coat suits in blue-and-white, black-and-white and tan, with contrasting silk collar, new gored four-fold skirt.

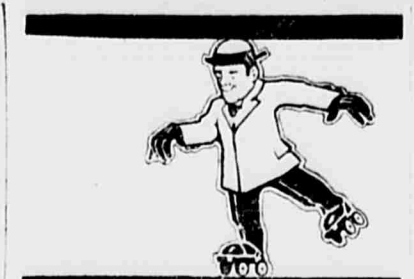

Draped sleeve coat suit of two-tone striped worsted, shawl collar and fancy broad cuffs of silk in contrasting soutache embroidery.

Butterfly coat suits of chiffon Panama embellished by bands of taffeta, graceful shawl collar and broad cuffs of silk and braid.

Plain tailored coat suits in single breasted, double breasted and fitted models, of fine French serge and shadow stripe worsteds. Coats 25 to 30 inch lengths.
